FOX AT WORK

NO FLUFF POOL SAFETY INSPECTIONS

POOL REGISTER CHEAT SHEET

Queensland pool owners

Is your pool registered?

Free to check, takes a few minutes, and you can do it from your phone.

WHY IT MATTERS

Every residential pool and outdoor spa in Queensland must be on the QBCC pool safety register, including portable and indoor ones. The only exception is a small wading pool that holds 300 mm of water or less, is 2,000 L or less and has no filter. An unregistered pool can mean an on-the-spot fine, or a bigger penalty in court.

SCAN TO CHECK

QBCC pool register

Stuck? Call QBCC

139 333

1 Get your details ready

Your street address is usually enough. If the address search struggles, have your lot and plan number handy. You'll find it on your council rates notice or title paperwork.

2 Open the QBCC pool register

Go to qbcc.qld.gov.au and search "register a pool", or scan the QR code on this page. Choose the link that says “Register now on the QBCC Portal”

3 Enter your property details

Type in the address and/or lot and plan number, then run the search.

4 Read the result

A pool shows against your property? You're registered, nothing more to do. Nothing shows? Use the Register Pool button and fill in the number of pools or spas, whether it's shared, and your contact details. Submit, then call Fox at Work.

WHAT THE REGISTER CAN TELL YOU

- Whether a pool is recorded against your property
- Pool safety certificates (Form 23) issued for the pool
- Licensed pool safety inspectors in your area

Registered does not mean compliant.

Registration puts your pool on the books. Your fence and gate still have to pass the safety standard. Selling or leasing? You'll need a pool safety certificate from a licensed inspector. That's me.

Call 0490 544 293 | www.foxatwork.com.au | Form 23 included from $229

QBCC: PS15600423 ABN: 78086238337 Fully insured, QBCC licensed, SPASA member.

General guide only. Check qbcc.qld.gov.au for current requirements. This is not a pool safety certificate.

Current as at 4 November 2026.